SPECIAL LITERARY SUPPLEMENT.

METHUEN'S STANDARD LIBRARY

MESSRS. METHUEN have now commenced the publication of the most interesting Series which they have yet issued. METHUEN'S STANDARD LIBRARY, of which Mr. SIDNEY LEE is the General Editor, is an attempt to place the best books of all nations, and particularly of the Anglo-Saxon race, within the reach of every reader. Similar attempts have been made before, but they have generally failed. The books have either been too dear, or they have been produced in a style unworthy of fine literature, or the texts have been untrustworthy, or the scheme has been partial and unmethodical. The only series which has been planned on lines so complete and methodical is the German UNIVERSAL BIBLIOTHEK of Reclam, a series which has now run into several thousands of volumes.

FOR RICH AND POOR

It is a difficult task to produce a series of classics whose comeliness and textual accuracy fit them for the scholar's library, and whose cheapness makes them possible for the bookshelves of the poor. This difficulty Messrs. Methuen have proposed to themselves to solve. They are making a bold bid for the suffrages of the reading public by publishing at Sixpence many books which have hitherto only been published at 3s. 6d. to 10s. 6d., and they hope that a new public will be discovered which may make Marlowe and Shelley in Sixpenny volumes not only a possibility but a success. The volumes of their new Series are well printed in a beautiful and legible type upon good paper. They are not pretty toy books, but sound, practical, and workmanlike volumes.

SIXPENCE

The cheapness of these books, containing from 100 to 250 pages, is extraordinary. The price of an ordinary volume is Sixpence net in paper. Thus you may obtain THE PILGRIM'S PROGRESS, or PARADISE LOST, or the first volume of Bacon's Prose Works, or THE IMITATION OF CHRIST, or Burke's REFLECTIONS ON THE FRENCH REVOLUTION, or MARCUS AURELIUS, or White's SELBORNE, or THE COMPLETE ANGLER for Sixpence each. Gibbon's DECLINE and FALL is being published in seven double shilling volumes, and the following names give a foretaste of what the public may buy for Sixpence:—Sir Thomas Browne, Plato, Dante, Calderon, Lesage, Joseph Butler, Sir Thomas More, Boswell, Swift, Pepys, and Adam Smith.

COMPLETE AND SCHOLARLY

Now many of the above Books have been published in cheap texts before, though scarcely any have been published at Sixpence. But Messrs. Methuen are not content with this. They are publishing in this series complete and scholarly editions of the great poets and dramatists. Thus the first volume of Shakespeare containing Five Plays is now ready at Sixpence, and very shortly will be published the first volume of Ben Jonson containing Three Plays, the first volume of Marlowe, and the first volume of Massinger. Keats, edited by Mr. de Sélincourt, is in the press in a double shilling volume, and Shelley, edited by Mr. C. D. Locock, will be published in four Sixpenny volumes. You will get complete editions of these authors at a ridiculous price.

TEXTS ABOVE SUSPICION

The inclusion of such names as these, one would think, would make the fortune of any series, but Messrs. Methuen would beg the public to understand that they are not merely flinging great names in their faces. Mr. Sidney Lee's name is a guarantee of sound and scholarly work. Each book has been edited with the greatest care. Thus every word of Massinger, Marlowe, Ben Jonson, Beaumont and Fletcher, Shelley, Keats, and Milton has been scrupulously collated with the best editions. These books, therefore, cheap as they are, contain texts as good as half-guinea editions of the same authors, and in many cases it is believed that they will be the best texts in existence. The whole scheme has been worked out on methodical lines. The greatest books of every nation will be printed, complete and unabridged, and if the public support this venture, they will have in time a library of classical literature at a price which to many may seem fantastic and impossible.

THE POOR MAN'S UNIVERSITY

The cost of an ordinary volume is Sixpence net in paper and One Shilling net in cloth. Very long books are issued in double volumes at One Shilling net in paper and One Shilling and Sixpence net in cloth. When a hundred volumes of METHUEN'S STANDARD LIBRARY have appeared, the purchaser will have the beginnings of a magnificent library for under Three Pounds. Here, indeed, is the POOR MAN'S UNIVERSITY.

THE FIRST TWELVE VOLUMES ARE:

THE WORKS OF WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE. VOL. I.—THE TEMPEST, THE TWO GENTLEMEN OF VERONA, THE MERRY WIVES OF WINDSOR, MEASURE FOR MEASURE, THE COMEDY OF ERRORS. 6d.

STORMONTH'S DICTIONARY OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE.
An entirely new edition. Re-edited and reset.
Crown 8vo, 5s. net.
"A new edition, revised by Mr. William Bayne, and so neatly arranged, so far as printing and exterior workmanship are concerned, that nearly 1,100 pages come into a reasonable and compact form, and there must be close on 100,000 references, all carefully considered and set forth with due regard to their origin, primary and secondary meanings, pronunciation, and application, with illustrative instances and relationships brought out like the main words themselves, in clear black type. The completeness of the book is incontestable, and we do not hope for more merit in a 'working' dictionary for the ordinary reader."—Pall Mall Gazette.
